Devox Systems Privacy Policy and Disclaimer

PRIVACY STATEMENT:

At Devox Systems we recognise the importance of privacy protection. Our policy for dealing with any personal information that you disclose to us while visiting this website is explained below.

The type of personal information that we collect from you through the submission of one of our forms including but not limited to, general enquiries, quotation requests and event registrations will be treated as confidential and not intentionally shared with any third party.

We do not collect or use any personal information on visitors to our website through the use of “cookies” or other software or hardware techniques. General website traffic trends and patterns may be analysed through website reporting. Some examples include, the number of website visits, the search terms used to connect with the website through different browsers, where users click and the duration of time users spend on any given page.

We may use your contact information to send you emails or newsletters that may be of relevance to you. Should these not be of interest to you, please notify us or simply “unsubscribe” where the option is displayed.

The circumstances under which we disclose information about you:

It is our policy not to sell or pass on any personal information that you may have provided to us unless we have your consent to do so. An exception to this is where we may be required by law to disclose certain information.

How we handle emails:

We will preserve the contents of any e-mail message that you send us if we believe that we have a legal requirement to do so. Emails sent to or from Devox Systems are routinely monitored for quality control, systems administration and legal compliance purposes.

DISCLAIMER:

The information provided on this website is for use of a general nature only and is not intended to be relied upon as, nor to be substitute for, specific professional advice. No responsibility for loss occasioned to any persons acting on or refraining from action as a result of any material in this publication can be accepted.

If you wish to clarify or discuss any aspect of our privacy policy or disclaimer please contact us on 1800 636 091 or info@devexsystems.com.au
